

DEBRA WAYNE

(M 1989 F 1992)

Currently Chair of the Club's 100th Anniversary & Publications Committees, & Editor of the Proceedings. Managing Editor of the Telecom Intelligence Group of newsletters at Access Intelligence in Rockville, MD. Previously Managing Editor of the commnow.com group of publications for the consulting firm, The Strategis Group; Washington reporter for RCR; Wireless Publications Director for BIA Consulting; Editor of Telocator magazine; and launched Cellular Business magazine (now Wireless Review) for Intertec Publishing.

Position Statement

As a member of the Radio Club for nearly my entire career in the wireless industry, I have worked to help promote the good works, the integrity and the benefits of belonging to this group via my tenure on the Publications Committee and now as chair of the Centennial committee, planning the celebration for the Club's first 100 years.

I will not hesitate to say that it takes a lot of time, work and planning to help make sure the Club runs smoothly and that the members are served to the best of our abilities. I think the Proceedings have evolved with the times -- not neglected our past heritage but making a conscious effort to build on the future when it comes to wireless technology and the people who are key to this industry today. I also believe the Aerogram has gotten better and more meaty, and our new online publication, while only in its infancy, signals the wave of the future when it comes to communicating Club business and happenings to our members.

I cannot take credit for the quality and quantity of what this committee has produced to keep the membership in the information loop. It truly is a team effort and, if re-elected, I will rededicate myself to continuing to make our publications and the 100th-anniversary celebration in 2009 truly memorable and informative, and membership in the Radio Club of America a "must have" in the telecommunications and broadcasting industries.